

EROSANTORINI

An enriching festive experience awaits the discerning traveller this winter season at the exclusive EROSANTORINI estate.

Indulge in the serene ambience of EROSANTORINI this winter, sit beside the floating fireplace, open a captivating book and allow the mind and soul to travel, overlooking the breathtaking panoramic views of Santorini's iconic caldera and the endless blue of the Aegean Sea. Visiting Santorini during the winter season, reveals this most picturesque and famous island in a different light, providing an enticing option for those wanting an alternative short haul trip this winter.

A truly unique experience awaits those fortunate to discover this magical island that never comes 'out of season'. The sophisticated traveller will greatly appreciate a more relaxed pace. Away from the hustle and bustle of summer, a relaxed Santorini provides peace and privacy, while the warm winter weather creates spectacular caldera panoramas with dramatic skies.

The island is welcoming all year round, thanks to its southerly location. A most clement weather, warm and sunny, with an average temperature of 15c, makes it an ideal destination for exploring the local flora and fauna and dramatic landscape, including the volcano, its impressive caldera and picturesque cliffside villages interconnected by winding hiking paths, either on foot or by a more traditional mode of transport, on donkey back.

Enjoy the island's multitude of museums and archaeological sites almost entirely to yourself, as well as unobstructed views of the glorious scenery. Visitors can immerse themselves in the more 'local' atmosphere, exploring quaint villages and the island's unique local produce. Try your hand on a fishing excursion, visit the old tomato factory, or one of the many wineries for a wine tasting at the old canaves (cellars) and learn the secrets of the famous Santorinian wines.

EROSANTORINI is a 2-acre retreat, perched 1,000 feet above the sea, ideally located for exploring the island's many treasures. During the winter months, EROSANTORINI can host up to 8 adults in four individual suites, ideal for couples looking for an intimate retreat or taken exclusively for groups of friends and families. Each suite has been beautifully designed to the highest specifications with magnificent views across the Aegean Sea. Each featuring private and semi-private spaces for outdoor living in every season, with floating fireplaces, heated private plunge pool, outdoor heated Jacuzzis and radiant heated floors.

The estate provides a plethora of on-site amenities to entertain guests throughout the wintertime; an extensive library of movies, books and board games for all the family, a beautiful spa features heated marble floors, a hammam/steam room, an "emotional shower" and a treatment list of massages and relaxing therapies. The elaborate with the best local and international labels wine cellar is the perfect sanctuary to the wine connoisseurs.

The team at EROSANTORINI is on hand to cater to guests' every wish with an abundance of 'philotimo' - the Greek philosophy of boundless hospitality. From the private chefs who create bespoke dining experiences for every of friends getting together on such special occasions to the host and concierge who are on hand to assist with arranging off-site activities, child minding, spa treatments, trekking, horse riding and so much more.
